

Fundraising and Donor Privacy Policies

As a non-profit 501(c) (3) agency, contributions made to Jewish Family & Children's Service are tax deductible to the fullest extent of the law. Donor-designated restrictions on contributions will be honored, as will requests for anonymity. .

JF&CS respects the privacy of all of its donors and uses its best efforts to safeguard their personal information. Policies and procedures are in place to protect donor privacy for both online and offline donors. Any information supplied to JF&CS by donors will not be shared outside of the agency, other than in response to a valid court subpoena, unless permission is granted by the donor to share such information. JF&CS will not sell, rent, loan, trade or share donor information.

Occasionally, donors may receive JF&CS mailings that keep them informed of agency programs, activities, special events, and needs for support. Donors who would prefer not to receive these communications may contact the Director of Development at (314) 513-1674 and request removal from the relevant agency mailing list.
